PwC Cyprus strengthens its leadership team with three new Partners

They will assume their new roles on 1 January 2027

PwC Cyprus announces that Michalis Zourides , Lambros Kyriakides and Panayiotis Hadjiconstantinou will join the firm's Partnership, assuming their roles as Partners effective 1 January 2027.

Through its continued investment in its people, PwC Cyprus nurtures the next generation of leaders and strengthens its teams, ensuring the delivery of high-quality services and comprehensive solutions to its clients.

Michalis Zourides holds a first-class honours degree in Accounting and Finance from the University of Essex in the United Kingdom. He is a Fellow of the Association of Chartered Certified Accountants (FCCA) and a member of the Institute of Certified Public Accountants of Cyprus. Michalis joined PwC Cyprus in 2008 and has built his career in International Client Services. He advises international clients on cross-border transactions, corporate governance, regulatory compliance and financial reporting. He focuses on providing private and corporate solutions, acting as a trusted business advisor to his clients.

Lambros Kyriakides joined PwC Cyprus in 2005 and has more than 20 years of professional experience. He holds a BSc in Accounting & Finance and an LL.M. in International Commercial & Business Law from the University of East Anglia, United Kingdom. He is a member of the Institute of Chartered Accountants in England and Wales (ICAEW) and the Institute of Certified Public Accountants of Cyprus (ICPAC). Throughout his career at PwC, he has gained extensive experience in assurance, financial reporting, compliance and transaction support services. Today, he works with clients to connect regulatory compliance and reporting with their day-to-day finance and operational functions. He helps organisations transform and optimise critical processes by combining the technical expertise of our people with technology-enabled solutions and an expanding Managed Services offering.

Panayiotis Hadjiconstantinou holds a Law degree from the University of Bristol in the United Kingdom and an LL.M. in International Tax Law from Leiden University in the Netherlands. He specialises in Global Minimum Tax and Double Taxation Treaties. Panayiotis began his professional career in 2008 at PwC UK, providing advisory services to investment management companies on international taxation and corporate structures. In 2012, he moved to PwC Cyprus, where he focused on supporting private clients, primarily in the energy, commodities and real estate sectors.

Welcoming the three new Partners to the leadership team of PwC Cyprus, CEO Andreas Yiasemides stated: "Investing in our people is an investment in the future of PwC Cyprus. The election of Lambros, Panayiotis and Michalis as Partners is a recognition of their expertise, experience and significant contribution to the firm's growth. At the same time, it reaffirms our commitment to creating opportunities for our people to develop and advance their careers. I warmly congratulate our new Partners and wish them every success in their new roles. I am confident that they will continue to make a meaningful contribution to the development of our teams, the support we provide to our clients and the continued evolution of our firm."
