PEDALION
YACHTING

What if your next team activity didn't take place in a meeting room...but under open sails, on a sailing yacht, where learning happens through real challenge?

Pedalion Yachting, in collaboration with PwC Cyprus, presents Skills Building at Sea — an immersive learning experience where the sailing yacht becomes the training ground, and every shift in wind creates an opportunity for growth.

PwC refers to the PwC Cyprus group of member firms and may sometimes refer to the PwC network. Each member firm is a separate legal entity. Please see www.pwc.com/structure for further details.

Out on the water, skills building leads the agenda. Carefully designed activities place participants in real conditions that require them to apply, test, and strengthen the behaviours that matter most in today's dynamic work environment, including:

- Genuine teamwork in realworld conditions
- Leadership and role clarity that emerge naturally through shared challenge
- Clear, purposeful communication essential for navigation and progress
- Trust and accountability built through collective responsibility
- Adaptive change management as conditions shift and plans evolve
- Highperforming team habits that sustain pace, quality, and safety
- Negotiation skills to manage expectations and make decisions under constraint
- Persuasion and influence to align perspectives and secure commitment
- Stress and time management under pressure and tight timelines

Designed with PwC's Workforce and behavioural experts, including business psychologists, Skills Building at Sea is grounded in a deep understanding of how teams behave, make decisions, and perform under pressure. PwC's expertise brings structure and insight ensuring experiences on the water are interpreted through proven behavioural frameworks and translated into practical, workplacerelevant learning. The experience can stand alone or integrate seamlessly into a wider management development programme, supported by focused prebriefs and reflective debriefs that turn realtime experience into sustained performance back at work.

More than a day at sea, a memorable experience that turns shared moments into lasting performance.
