

Presenting with impact in a hybrid environment

The need for this seminar arises since participants are delivering presentations (both internal and external) in a hybrid environment, which is the new norm after the pandemic. The seminar will help participants enhance their presentation and facilitation skills, so as to deliver presentations even more effectively in a hybrid environment.

More specifically, the seminar will help participants:

- Identify key qualities of effective presenters
- Identify what makes a compelling presentation
- Practice their presentation skills
- Build confidence, credibility and trust
- Facilitate discussion and manage participants' behaviour
- Effectively use verbal skills, non-verbal skills and visual aids
- Structure their presentations considering hybrid environments

Who should attend the seminar?

Junior, mid level or senior members of staff who are involved in making any kind of presentations within their firms and/or to their clients.

The programme specifications have been approved by the HRDA.
